Quassy's Waterpark Opening for Season This Saturday

With warmer weather expected across Connecticut during Memorial Day Weekend, it is the perfect place for families to celebrate the long weekend

Middlebury, CT – Quassy is celebrating Memorial Day Weekend with the opening of its Splash Away Bay Waterpark on Saturday, May 27. The Waterpark will be open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. from Saturday to Monday and will move to daily operations on June 1.

Opening the waterpark on Memorial Day Weekend has become a splashy Quassy tradition ever since Saturation Station, the park's first waterpark attraction, opened in 2003.

"We are excited to welcome guests back to the waterpark as we get closer to the summer being in full swing," explains Eric Anderson, President of Quassy. "So many families in our area have generations of memories at Quassy and during our 115th season, we continue to be a place where families can come together."

Quassy is also known as one of New England's most affordable waterparks. "We offer a lot of value-driven specials and group packages to make it easier to enjoy a day of fun," continues Anderson.

The family-focused amusement park and waterpark is marking its 115th season of entertaining New England families in 2023. Throughout the season, familiar special events will take place like the Jim and Sandy Sisti Show, Wings & Things and Homeschool Day among other popular events.

In addition to the opening of the waterpark, guests visiting Quassy for Memorial Day Weekend will get to experience the park's newest ride, Super Himalaya. Also known in parts of the world as the Musik Express, this fact-paced, circular thrill ride features twenty 3-passenger cars traveling at speeds of up to 12 revolutions per minute.
